Dear Dr. Al-Hoorie:

We are writing in our capacity as the co-editors of TESOL Quarterly. As such, we would like to invite you to serve on our editorial and advisory board. If you accept, your three-year appointment would begin in June 2022 and end in March 2025. As part of your responsibilities as a board member, we would expect you to complete about five reviews for us each year, either of new or revised submissions. We would also hope that you take part in the annual editorial and advisory board meeting and vote for the special issue of the journal that we put out a call for each year.

As a board member, you would be invited to annual board meetings at the TESOL convention, but there is no obligation to attend, and, unfortunately, no honorarium or travel funding is available for this from the journal. The board meeting is usually held on the afternoon of the day before the convention. This is also usually the last day of the AAAL conference. Next year, the meeting will be held on March 21, 2023.

In assembling the board, we strive to cover a range of areas for which TESOL Quarterly receives submission. We put much thought into making sure that we include experts from a range of areas, so we hope that you will seriously consider joining the board. Of course, please feel free to contact us with any questions that you might have about the duties.

Sincerely,

Peter De Costa
